AHM council delivers zero increase budget

by Jerry Grozelle

The municipality has held the line.

Taxpayers in Anson, Hindon and Minden can look forward to no increases in taxes for the coming year. The school board has actually decreased its levy by 0.3 per cent, while the county levy dropped by 3.1 per cent.

With the passing of the budget by-law, Anson, Hindon and Minden reeve Jeanne Anthon issued a prepared statement, which read:

Council is pleased to formally adopt the 1996 Municipal Budget with corresponding mill rates for the municipal, county and board of education levies.

The following outlines the changes to the mill rates for 1996, compared to the 1995 rates:

County - decreased 3.1 per cent

School Board - decreased 0.3 per cent

General Municipal - no increase

The overall result to the total mill rate is an average decrease of 0.6 per cent.

The municipality has prepared a good news budget for the taxpayers, in spite of the provincial grant reductions in the amount of $92,856. As a result of lower provincial funding, the complement of summer employees was reduced and interdepartmental sharing of staff has been incorporated into the operations of the municipality. While council does not expect the public to encounter any serious reductions in the level of service provided, there may be times that a delay will be experienced.

The estimates for the Roads Department provide for the purchase of a new backhoe to replace the 1984 model we currently have. Twelve Mile Lake Road West and Mountainview Drive will be receiving hard surface treatment this summer. Infrastructure funding has been applied for to reconstruct Prince Street in Minden. Should this application be approved, the municipal cost of the project has been allowed for in a reserve.

The municipal parking lot has been expanded and 32 additional parking spaces will be paved in the not-too-distant future.

The community centre estimates include the installation of auditorium windows overlooking the ice surface. This project was funded with donations and a reserve fund transfer. The arena will have the condenser and chiller replaced this year.

Various infrastructures will be completed during 1996, including the river bank restoration project, the ball diamond upgrading and Rotary Park will be the recipient of a new playground structure.

Council and staff have worked very diligently to provide a 1996 budget with no mill rate increase that maintains services and ensures upgrades to our infrastructure.

Deputy-reeve Jerry Rome gave credit to the municipal staff for making the necessary adjustments to keep the budget from increasing.

Destroyed

Twisted steel and ashes were all that remained following a May 20 fire in Kinmount. The blaze levelled the Shell service station on Highway 121 and two other businesses in the building. The fire was noticed at about 5 a.m. by a passing Ontario Hydro crew.

Fire levels garage

Fire razed a building in Kinmount that housed three businesses. The blaze occurred early on May 20 (Victoria Day). An Ontario Hydro crew on the way to Crystal Lake turned in the alarm at 5:30 in the morning.

Somerville fire chief Dean Spry said the fire seems to have started in the gas bar and variety store at the front of the building and spread to engulf Kirk's Auto repairs and Larry Vick Sales. Merv Preston was the proprietor of the gas bar and variety store.

The property is owned by the Scott family of Kinmount.

Spry said the loss will easily exceed $200,000.

An estimated 50 to 60 volunteer firefighters from the three Somerville stations, as well as the Galway, Laxton, Bexley and Fenelon fire departments fought the blaze for more than three hours. At times, the fire was fuelled by propane from lines that went to heaters in the building.

"When the copper lines melted off, they were just like a blow torch," Spry said.

More questions raised over tipping fees

Tipping fees at the two township landfill sites was the topic of discussion when Jim Garbutt of Garbutt Enterprises attended the Anson, Hindon and Minden council meeting on Thursday evening.

"I'm not here to carry on and complain," Garbutt said.

He wondered why he hadn't been consulted when the various committees were studying the options.

"I could have provided some input if I had been asked," he said.

Garbutt asked if council was prepared to give him an exemption of four cubic yards per week because he picks up household garbage from Minden customers. He pointed out that he is doing the municipality a favour by compacting the garbage before it is deposited at the landfill sites. He said his compactor compresses four yards of garbage into one yard, on average.

"I feel we're being penalized, when we're using less space at the dump by compacting," he said.

Garbutt said that he can't afford to absorb the added cost of the tipping fees. He speculated that if he raises his rates to recover the added expenses, some of his customers will abandon his services and take their garbage to the dump themselves. He added that it won't be compacted, thereby taking up four times as much space as it would if it came from his truck.

Garbutt also questioned the logic of allowing each household five bags per week.

"That sounds a little much if you're trying to promote recycling," he said.

Reeve Jeanne Anthon agreed that the five bag limit is generous, but she agreed with councillor Daryl Moore ploded during the fire, but fortunately nobody was injured. The guard dog perished in the blaze.

Three vehicles were inside the building, including a vintage 1950s Ford pickup truck and a motor home.

OPP officers rerouted traffic around the scene and an ambulance crew was on standby until the fire was extinguished.

Guy Scott praised the fire departments for their quick response and the fact that they were able to keep the fire from the nearby propane tanks.

Scott said he's not sure at this point whether the structure will be rebuilt.

Camper rescued after tree crushes tent

by Carol Moffatt

A Toronto woman camping at Sherbourne Lake suffered a broken arm and a fractured pelvis after a tree crushed her tent and trapped her and her boyfriend during last weekend's (May 19) violent thunderstorm.

Andrea Cook, 26 and Mark Mastantuono, 27 were part of a Humber College canoe group camped at the water-access site when the storm hit.

"The tree fell right between us. There was a big clap of thunder and Andrea screamed and sort of rolled over. The tree landed where her head had just been," said a shaken Mastantuono.

Mastantuono said he first thought a bear had attacked the campsite when the accident occurred around 11 p.m. After "scratching like crazy" and trying to rip open the tent's screen, Mastantuono cut himself out of the tent with a pocket knife.

With the help of the course instructor and other campers, he cut the injured Cook out of her side of the tent. "We carried her to another tent, checked her out and when we realized she was hurt we decided to go for help. We paddled back to the portage and went along the trail until we found a cottage," said

Praise from auditor

Chartered accountant Gary Thurston gave Anson, Hindon and Minden top marks for its financial statement. This year marked the 15th annual financial statement he has presented to council, Thurston pointed out.

Overall, Thurston's report was a glowing one, commending the municipality for its ability to actually increase its reserves while taking advantage of infrastructure funding and weathering provincial funding cutbacks.

Tax arrears are down from about 20 per cent to 16 per cent.

"Sixteen per cent is very reasonable," he said. "I think we'd find that percentage comparable to the private sector."

He pointed out that if taxpayers realized that tax arrears are now more expensive than bank interest, people would be wise to borrow from a financial institution to pay their tax arrears.

Thurston said that reserves have always been a priority with Anson, Hindon and Minden. He said he is amazed that the municipality's reserves have continued to grow, with the economic climate of the past few years and the fact that more than $400,000 was spent to receive $750,000 in infrastructure grants from the federal and provincial governments in 1995.

Thurston told council that the municipality's capital reserves are about 10 per cent of the annual budget, which is right on target.

"It's nice not to have any deficits to report," he said.

Deputy-reeve Jerry Rome replied, "We have our staff to thank. They've done a remarkable job."

The rest of council members voiced their agreement with Rome's statement.

Dump security assured

Anson, Hindon and Minden residents can take comfort in the fact that Burns Security has been awarded the contract to provide landfill site attendants for the municipality.

The Burns Security tender was accepted at last Thursday's council meeting. The company will be paid $10.65 per hour for the hours that each of the two landfill sites are open. During statutory holidays, the rate will be $26.62 per hour.

The Burns tender was the lowest of those received.

Festival honours the humble canoe

"Everyone had so much fun in the pouring rain last year that we're doing it again this year," says one of the organizers of the Kinmount Canoe Festival in a press release.

The festival is set for Saturday, June 8, with races, contests, a very special by-election for politicians and fun events for everyone.

Races include seven kilometre runs up the Burnt River from Kinmount, for men, women and mixed teams, youngsters, service clubs and Legion branches. New for this year is a Nifty Fifty Plus race, a four kilometre sprint "for older and smarter people."

Back, by popular demand, is the decorated canoe contest. This is your chance to let your imagination run wild, decorate canoes or kayaks any way you can think of, paddle them in a parade to the laughter, applause and appreciation of all of Kinmount (and points beyond) -- and maybe, be the 1996 trophy winner.

What about the special by-election, you ask? Well, we're having a politicians' Vote Hunt. The prize is the honour of being the mayor of Kinmount. The new mayor, of course, receives the key to the city.

The way it works is that votes, represented by col-

Plymouth history rolls into Minden

A dozen members of the Ontario Four Cylinder Plymouth Registry gathered at the EJ Motel on Highway 121 this past weekend for the group's eighth annual meet. Don and Opal Crowe of Minden organized this year's event, sending invitations to all 117 registered owners. Cars representing all five of the years these vehicles were built (from 1928 to 1932) made the trip to Minden for the event. They came from as far as Ottawa, Niagara Falls and Walkerton. Crowe leads the parade on an excursion to Bobcaygeon (above). The cars at left are three of a kind, all 1932 Plymouth four doors.

Free flights for kids June 8 & 9

It's easy to soar with the eagles in Stanhope

by Andrew Milne

There ain't any such thing as a free lunch, it's true. There is such thing as a free flight, however.

Thanks to the generosity of some local pilots, the Experimental Aircraft Association (EAA), and the Stanhope Municipal Airport, children who have dreamed of flying will get a chance to do so free next month.

The airport will be participating this year — as last year — in the EAA's Young Eagle Program. Under the program, pilots at airports around the world show interested children around their aircraft, talk about flying, and take children up for 15-20 minute flights, free of charge.

"The idea," says local organizer Barry Hart, "is to cultivate interest in aviation in kids. They want to give a million kids an airplane ride by the year 2003, which is the 100th anniversary of the Wright Brothers flight."

This is the third year Stanhope will hold the event. So far, the airport has taken up 275 children. Around the world, so far, the program has registered 200,000 children, with 13,000 pilots flying.

"Most of the kids," says Hart, "just think it's amazing. They just love it."

The pilots assembled for the event agree that this is a great idea. Aviation, being expensive, they say, can be hard to get into. They're happy to make it a little easier for interested children to get involved.

"I wish they were doing it when I was a kid," says Brent Walker, one of the pilots who will be flying. "I used to hang around airports and beg."

The event will be June 8-9 at the airport, from 9 am to 3 pm. Participants must have a parent or guardian present to register them, and sign their approval.

Children participating will also have their names entered in the EAA's 'Young Eagles' logbook, and will receive a free junior aviation magazine.

Pilots participating are required by the EAA to meet all applicable safety standards before taking anyone aloft, and have been instructed to follow strict safety procedures.

Council not prepared to make changes to bylaw when he explained that the reason was so the average householder wouldn't have to pay a user fee to dispose of household garbage.

Anthon told Garbutt she was surprised that he waited until after the by-law had been passed to approach council with his concerns. She added that council is not prepared to make concessions.

On the subject of dump cards, Garbutt pointed out that there are some blatant abuses. He said that he doesn't think vacant lot owners should be issued dump cards. He said he knows of instances where cottagers from outside the municipality have been given cards by vacant land owners who have no use for them.

Moore explained that besides encouraging recycling, one of the reasons for instituting tipping fees in Anson, Hindon and Minden was because neighbouring municipalities were implementing tipping fee schedules.

"We didn't want everybody bringing their garbage from other areas and filling up our dumps," he said.

Garbutt said that council picked a poor time to institute tipping fees.

"You're hitting businesses at a wicked rough time, when business is poor and most businesses are having a hard time making ends meet," he protested. "I just think it's bad timing."

He added that the new fee schedule has the potential of putting him out of business. He said he will be expected to pay the tipping fees up front, when some of his customers, through no fault of their own, won't be able to pay him as promptly, causing a cash flow problem.

Garbutt speculated that litter along the roadsides would increase because of the cost associated with depositing garbage at the two local landfill sites.

"You're going to find a lot of garbage along the side of the road," he suggested.

Why does funeral preplanning make sense?

Because making advance funeral arrangements eases the emotional worries and difficult decisions your loved ones face at the time of loss.

You also have the option of prepaying for services and merchandise. And, we can tailor a payment schedule to fit your budget. These funds are 100% guaranteed to be there when the time arises.

A family tradition in funeral service.

* In Ontario a separate fee cannot be charged for preplanning.

Literacy tutors

Helping to spread the word

by Andrew Milne

Imagine going to a grocery store, and having to guess the contents of a package or tin by the pictures on the label.

Imagine not being able to make out the warning notices on prescription drugs or household cleaning products.

Imagine never having read a nonfiction book, a magazine article, a newspaper, or a novel. Imagine not being able to do so.

Imagine life without the ability to read.

For a surprising number of adult Canadians that's the reality of their day to day lives, and it's a reality that can be surprisingly hard to change.

Barbara Nangle, director of the Haliburton Highlands Literacy Centre, says her organization still can't be sure how many people out there can't read, or who can only read at levels inadequate for their needs. The trouble is, she says, it isn't easy for most people with such problems to admit it, even privately to someone who is able, even willing to help them.

Says Nangle, "It's very difficult for them to come forward and to ask for help.... and it's the people who can't read at all who have the most difficulty coming forward."

The Centre has been in operation since 1990. It relies on volunteers and a modest grant from the Ministry of Education and Training (MOET) to keep its door open. Its tutors — the people who actually teach people who want to improve their literacy — are all volunteers.

How people wind up unable to read in an era of relatively accessible education is complicated, says Nangle. There are many reasons.

English might be the student's second language, and he or she might have only acquired minimum fluency in reading and writing. A learning disability might have cut short the schooling, or made progress in language skills extremely slow. The individual might have been travelling a great deal, and never had access to a good education in the language.

The answers are as varied as are the people involved says Nangle, "It could be illness, or an accident. It could have been a case of just acting up and being the bad boy at the back of the class. It could be a hearing problem, a sight problem, and it's always been just put down."

The Centre's approach to coping with illiteracy is to teach the students individually. The office staff maintains a roster of interested tutors, and whenever someone comes in looking for help, it attempts to match a tutor with a student.

The advantage of such an approach, says Nangle, is that it allows the centre to readily adapt to the wants and needs of the students; a valuable thing, since the centre does get such a variety of students. The disadvantage, naturally, is that it can sometimes be extremely hard to find a good match. As a result, the centre endeavours to have an additional list of tutors available at all times.

Four tutors who volunteer for the Centre — Frances Elstone, Bruce Inch, David Geary, and Virginia Hopkings — say the work is sometimes difficult, but often sense of achievement they personally experience can be great.

"I feel very rewarded... I feel that I've really done something when the student goes on," Elstone says.

Teaching reading and writing skills can be a complicated business. What's effective as a teaching method varies widely from student to student, due to the equally wide range of needs and initial ability.

Says Hopkings, who's taught a number of students learning English as their second language, "If a student — like my present one — wants or needs mostly conversational English, that's mostly what we do — reinforced by writing and of course vocabulary development. But verb tenses are always part of English as a secondary language. Some languages — such as hers, which is Thai — have no verb tenses."

Geary, who has taught a number of students with physical and/or mental handicaps, says, "In every case it's been a question of trying to extend the vocabulary and recognition of words — this can be accomplished by playing word games with them, trying to engage their interest."

Says Geary, "The downside is when you see a bit of progress, and then all of a sudden it all disappears. This does happen. One student I tutored was reading words like 'carburetor' and 'valve stem', things in which he had an interest. He could pick these words out, but then the next word was 'the', and he'd get it wrong... With that type of person, you do have a bit of a problem with concentration. You have to go in short little bursts. That's the downside, and at the same time, through that period he was unable to pass his test for his driver's license. However, he did get it eventually."

Being able to write a driver's test — though it might seem like small thing to some — is quite often a significant goal for clients of the centre. Others might be looking for work, and might need to be able to read to apply for a job. But again, it varies widely. The centre has taken people as far, on occasion, as college entrance standards.

Sometimes, the goal is less than clearly fixed. Says Geary, "The government is trying to zero in on finalized results — producing labourers capable of finding jobs... We felt that our mission is not to zero in. We define progress as what we can find. If a person can't tell time when they start the program, and they learn to tell time, well that's a start."

Learning to read, they say, often yields other, less direct benefits for their students, merely because it is such an accomplishment.

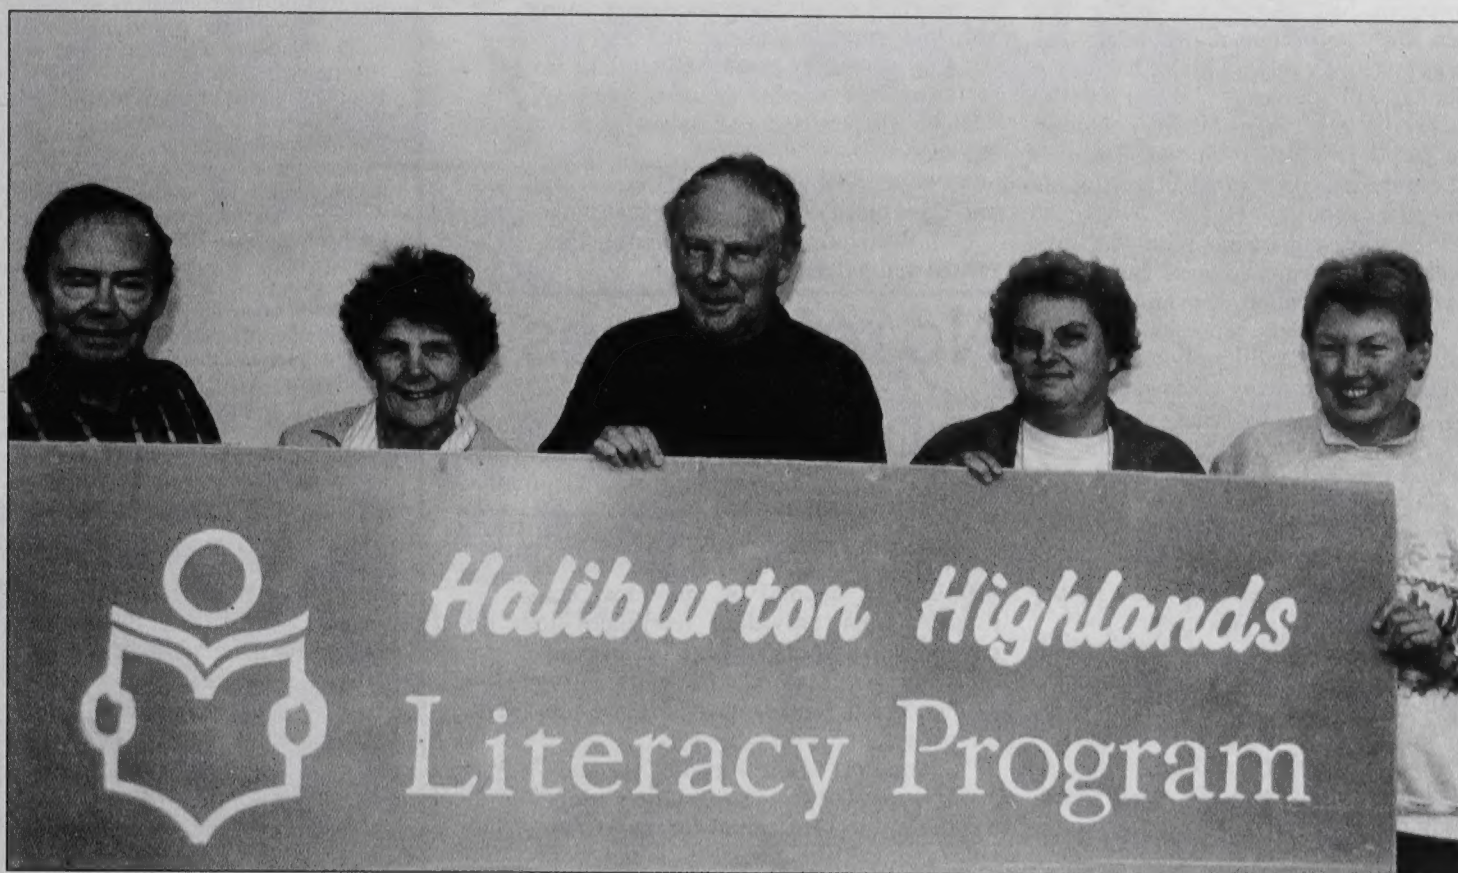

"It's very much a confidence-building thing," says Nangle. "That's often a very important result of the learning process."

They deal, in the field, with a lot of conditions that make their job difficult. The students are adults, and quite often have family obligations that limit the time they can give to their studies. Worse, their family may be less than supportive of their efforts to better themselves.

All that aside, the volunteers say, they do enjoy the work.

Says Hopkings, another retired teacher, "I wanted something interesting to do in retirement. I love to teach, and teaching one on one is probably the best kind of teaching there is."

The Literacy Centre is always looking for volunteers — as tutors or in fund-raising. Co-ordinator Barb Nangle can be reached by calling 457-3430.

SPREAD THE WORD: Literacy tutors Bruce Inch, Frances Elstone, David Geary, co-ordinator Barbara Nangle and Virginia Hopkings are just some of the many individuals who volunteer their time to teach others in the community how to read.

Kinmount plans second annual canoe festival oured cards, will grow on trees along a short stretch of the Burnt River. Politicians can just paddle out and collect them. Only politicians may collect votes, but anyone may paddle his or her canoe. John Huke, currently the reeve of Somerville got his paddler by auction. The paddler paid the handsome sum of $51 for the privilege of chauffeuring Mr. Huke in a canoe.

Will the politician with the best paddler get the most votes? Maybe. Or maybe there's a hitch. Maybe the different coloured cards represent different numbers of votes, with only the organizers knowing how many votes each colour gets.

Organizers aren't telling, and they insist that they will not accept bribes.

Early entry fees of $10 per canoe will be accepted, however. That's the same entry fee as last year, with the exception of the Tug of War, which costs a looney per paddler.

All proceeds go to the Kinmount Heritage Parklands Project -- the continuing development of the waterfront park and the renovation of the Austin Sawmill.

Registration starts at 11 a.m. and the racing begins at noon. The politician's vote hunt will get under way after the races have started. The decorated canoe contest should get afloat at about 2:30 p.m.

Canoe Festival rules

All participants must wear approved life jackets. Ski belts are not allowed.

Only recreational canoes may be used in the races. No professional racing canoes will be allowed. Maximum canoe length for the races will be 17 feet.

For safety, all participants must abide by the rules of fair play, good sportsmanship and common sense.

Any person or team deliberately interfering with another canoe in any way, will be disqualified and asked to leave the race.

Awards will be given to first, second and third place winners in all races.

All decisions by the organizing committee and judges will be final.

No references to be given

Firearms owners need not apply.

Anson, Hindon and Minden council voted to enact a policy which forbids members of council or municipal employees from providing references to anyone who is applying for a firearms acquisition certificate (FAC) while acting as an official representative of the municipality.

Councillor Grant Plooard was adamantly opposed to the resolution adopting the policy. He called for a recorded vote and he was the only member of council to oppose the resolution.

The resolution addressed "serious liability concerns" regarding the endorsement of FAC applicants.

"There's far more (municipal) liability in Timbersport and other events," Plooard said. "I'm totally against this resolution."

BEST NEW WAGON OF THE YEAR

1996 Outback wins AJAC award

(NC)—On Thursday, December 7, 1995 we were the proud recipients of the 1996 Best New Wagon of the Year Award for the 1996 Subaru Outback. The Subaru Legacy remains undefeated as every new Legacy introduced has gone on to become an award winner.

Members of the Automobile Journalists Association of Canada voted for the Outback, which gives the 1996 Legacy even more credibility—five for five! This is our fifth win for the Legacy, having won in 1990, Best New Sedan of the Year, 1991, Best New Family Sedan of the Year, in 1993, Best New Van/Wagon of the Year, and again in 1995, Best New Van/Wagon of the Year.

As Subaru's spokesperson for the Outback, Paul Hogan says, "Bout the only thing tougher than the Outback are your automotive journalists". AJAC's 1996 Car of the Year Awards are North America's most thorough Car of the Year Awards Program. New vehicles, which will be on sale to the public within the calendar year, are tested in late October at Shannonsville Motorsport Park near Belleville, Ontario. This is an exhaustive three-day evaluation where the journalists appraise all new models in extensive detail.

Winning this award is something we should feel proud of, particularly in light of the fact that the Outback is the world's first Sport-Utility Wagon, and this was AJAC's first year to have a separate "Wagon" category. The Outback's competition in the Wagon category was the Ford Taurus Wagon and the Subaru Impreza 2.2 L Sportwagon.

Having five AJAC awards for the Legacy will no doubt strengthen the overall quality image of our vehicles.

The babies and the bath water

We note with some concern, the change in direction announced last week by the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit in regard to the delivery of prenatal education. The Unit has announced it will no longer be providing classes for expectant mothers. Instead, it plans to rely on strategically placed reading and video materials to provide the information. The Health Unit has placed the material at area libraries and provided local book stores with lists of material which it feels is appropriate and accurate. Expectant and new mothers who inquire at the Health Unit will be directed to these sources for detailed information.

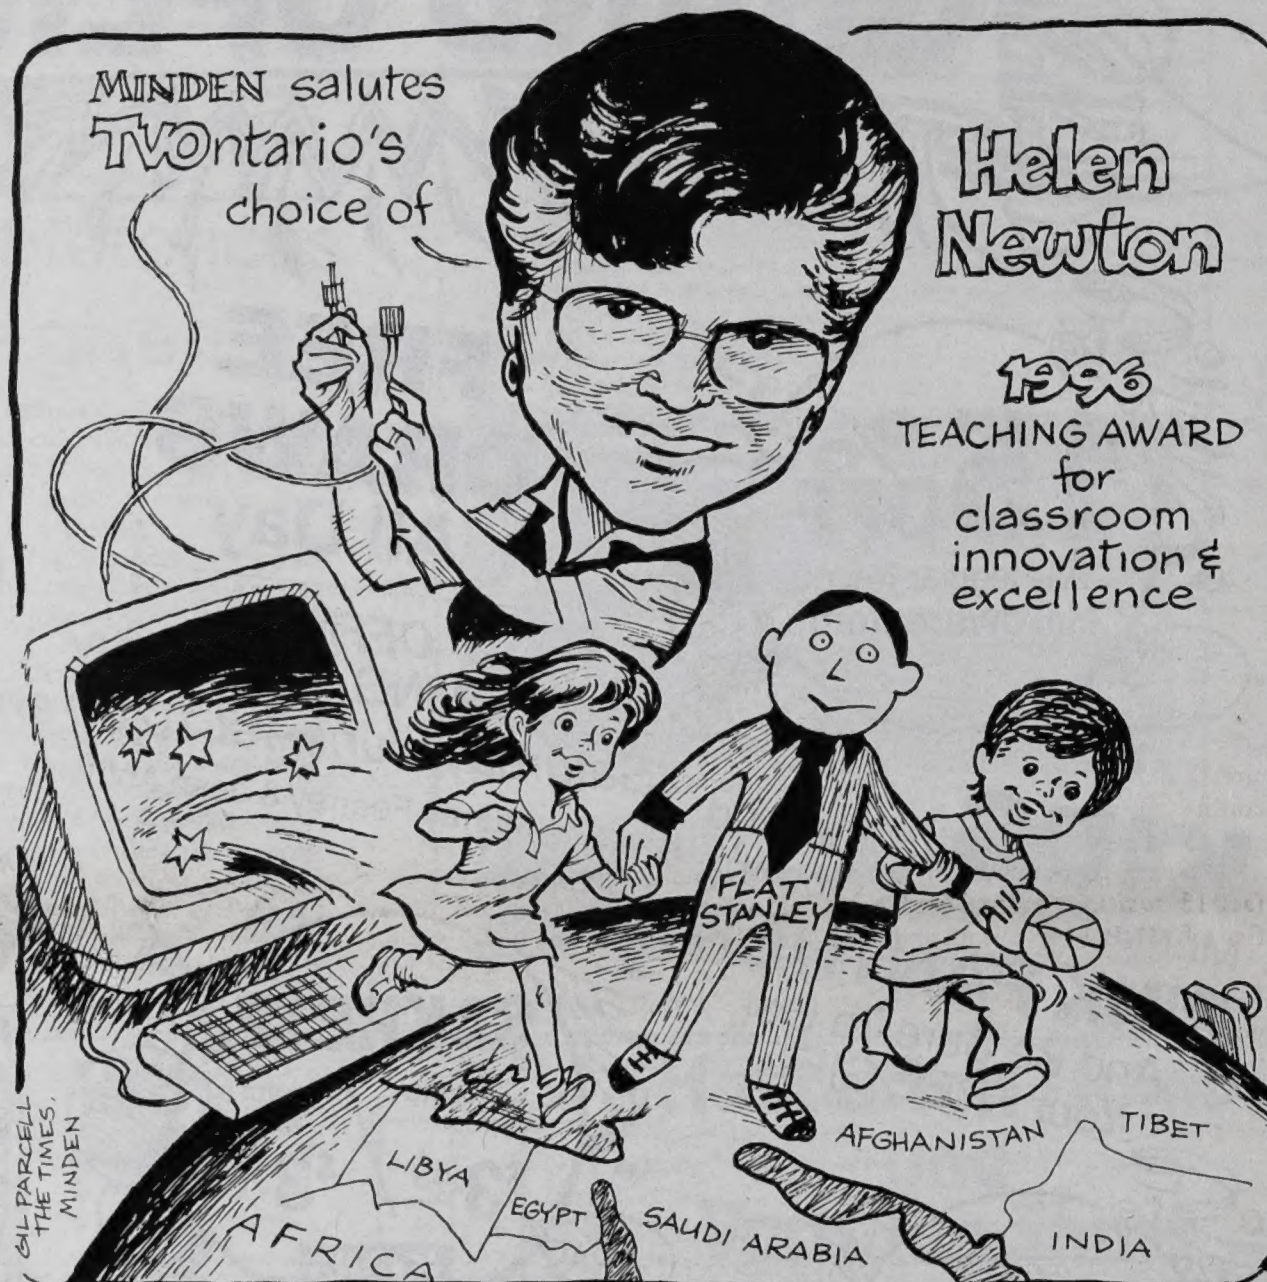

One of the reasons offered for this change in direction by the Health Unit is the lack of interest in prenatal classes. Changing life-style is offered as an over-riding reason for the decline in interest in the classes. Many new mothers and mothers-to-be are part of the work force and have little time to include another activity in their schedules.

While that may be the case, we also wonder if funding cuts to the Health Unit's over-all budget is another reason this program has been changed. If, in fact it is reduced funding which has helped to set this new direction, then we suggest it is regrettable and a step in the wrong direction.

Many studies have shown that the first years of life are the most crucial in determining the health and well-being of a child. It is during this time that important building blocks are established which will have a major influence on the growth and development of the individual for the remainder of his or her life. If a society wants to protect its future, it will obtain the best return if an investment is made during these formative years.

Reading material and videos may in fact help some mothers meet the needs of their children, however there are others for whom these resources are inappropriate or who would derive greater benefit from the personal counselling and interaction with others that was available at prenatal classes. We hope the abandoning of this traditional approach to ensuring the well-being of mothers and infants is not one that the community will regret in years to come.

Bus safety

Editor:

I honestly can't believe that our local trustees have had a chance to seriously consider the ramifications of having children walk up to two kilometres over country road. The recent concerns and deliberations over cutbacks have certainly required so much time and energy that, no doubt, the issue of cutting bus transportation has not been thought through.

Our sideroads involve many hills, curves and narrow roadways. A child would not have a chance, considering the speed of the vehicles, the lack of visibility and the carefree nature of young children.

It is easy to say, 'Let their parents drive them', BUT we all know this is not going to happen for all children, for any number of reasons. What then?

As a taxpayer for many years in this community, both as a cottager and as a permanent resident, I applaud fiscal responsibility. However, our priority has to be the safety for all our children. We must ask ourselves, what is one child's life worth?

Dorothy Owens,
Haliburton.

Naming names

by Jack Brezina, editor

Our report in last week's newspaper regarding the cut in staff at the Minden office of the Ministry of Natural Resources resulted in some rather pointed responses. A number of MNR employees called The Times to complain that we had identified the individuals whose positions had been eliminated.

Their complaints were based on an understanding which they said had been struck when our reporter visited the office to record the reaction of several of the MNR staff members. They said an agreement was made at that time between the reporter and the employees that their names not appear. They felt The Times had violated that agreement.

In addition to what several of the employees felt was a breaking of an agreement, they felt identifying the employees affected was an intrusion into their personal lives that could have ramifications, financially and emotionally.

It was also pointed out that in fact 13 positions at the Minden office of MNR were eliminated. The names we listed were those individuals who currently held those positions and they could, through the 'bumping' process, continue to be MNR employees, here, or in other locations.

So why did The Times publish the names of the individuals affected by the job cuts at the MNR office?

First, it was the reporter's understanding that the agreement which had been reached covered the interviews with the staff members and therefore those making statements regarding their own future or that of the ministry would not be identified. It was felt that the agreement applied specifically to the interview situation.

The listing of the employees affected by the MNR staff cuts was done outside of the context of the interviews.

The Times also felt it was important for our readers to be aware of the human impact the cuts would have on this community. The loss of the payroll represented by the 13 positions is one measure of that impact, however, the area also has the potential of losing individuals and families who are an important part of the fabric of the community. The Times did not feel the numbers alone reflected this aspect of the job cuts.

We realize the job cuts and the subsequent bumping process have exacted an emotional toll on all civil servants. It was not our intention to make the experience any more painful, but rather to convey to the community at large the extensive impact of the job cuts. It was obvious from the reaction we received from the MNR employees last week that by doing the latter, we exacerbated the former...and for doing so The Times apologizes.

The day the music died

When you're thirty, something always happens to the music.

Gene Lees

Never mind 30, Gene--how about 50?

I reached the half century mark not so very long ago. Fifty is a significant digit in a guy's chronology. It causes you to stop and look around. And back. And forward. It got me to thinking about the popular forms of music in my life.

I've seen quite a clutch of musical styles. When I was a pup, the radio waves were full of Billy Eckstine, Sarah Vaughan, Peggy Lee and a skinny little punk with a golden throat named Frank Sinatra. Then a truck driver from Memphis came along and transformed the popular music scene single-handed. Well...pelvised. Rock and roll was born.

And rock begat Soft Rock. And Hard Rock. And, Acid, Heavy Metal and California. There was also Country Music. And Country and Western music. Not to mention Bluegrass, Old Time, Blues, Soul and (shudder) Disco.

There was already much more than I could handle. But it was just a hint of what was to come down the track..

Have you looked at the music scene lately?

No?

Brace yourself, batten down the ear-plugs and take my hand. There is Rap, of course. A form of music performed by baggy-panted, baseball-capped bozos who look like crack dealers and talk like drill sergeants--if drill sergeants talked in rhyming couplets.

But rap is merely the beginning of this descending scale. You will also discover Punk. And Funk. Hip Hop and Head Banger. Techno and Jungle. Not to mention Glam and Scratch and Thrash and Compost.

And what do they all sound like? They sound like a pounding migraine feels. They have all the charm of a recorded train wreck. They are as spiritually satisfying as a bout of sea sickness. These forms of hormonal venting are, to these jaded ear-holes at least, atonal, non-rhythmic and utterly bereft of any musical characteristics as I understand them.

Of course, that's exactly what my old man said about Elvis.

If I needed any proof that I'm out of the mainstream musically, I found it in a small news item last week. It noted that the British Broadcasting Corporation's pop music station is refusing to play a recently released ditty from a fairly well-known British pop group. The BBC claims that the song just isn't good enough to make its playlist.

It's a single called Real Love.

It's the latest--and possibly the last--musical effort of a group you may have heard of.

The Beatles!

Other late breaking news on the Geezer Rock front: guess who's making a come-back?

Pat Boone.

It's true. Old Mister White Bucks, who 40 years ago rendered generations of music lovers comatose with his syrupy, goody-two-shoes renditions of songs like April Love and Love Letters in the Sand is re-incarnating as...

Are you are sure you are ready for this?

...a heavy metal rocker.

I swear. Very soon, you will be able to go to your record stores and pick up a CD called Pat Boone: No More Mr. Nice Guy.

"They're laughing at me now," says Pat, "but I'll be laughing when they hear me sing Rock and Roll all Nite and they say 'Hey, that's pretty doggone good.'"

Sure, Pat.

Just don't forget your Geritol.

CIBC welcomes new manager

A 23 year veteran with the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce has chosen Minden.

Graham Knight took over officially at the Minden branch of CIBC last Tuesday. An open house was held last Friday with the community invited to drop by and meet the new manager.

"Things certainly have changed in the way the bank assigns its personnel," Knight commented. "There was a time a letter arrived from head office saying you were posted to another location...no questions. Now we have an opportunity to bid on postings that are available and if we fit the qualifications required, we are offered the job."

That is how Graham and his wife Ann selected Minden. He had worked for the bank for a number of years in the southwestern part of Ontario. His latest posting was as manager of two branches in London. "We made a lifestyle decision, and opted for Minden," Knight commented. "The smaller community and the way of life it represents appealed to us. Minden matched what we were looking for."

The couple had spent time at a relative's cottage in Huntsville and farther east on the other side of Algonquin Park, so they were familiar with the area and what it had to offer.

New CIBC manager Graham Knight

Knight enjoys golfing and fishing and is looking forward to enjoying both in the Highlands. For the moment, however, he is busy settling into his new post and dealing with all the details associated with the move.

Haliburton home & vacation show set for this weekend

There will be some new feature included at this year's Home and Vacation Show slated for this coming weekend in Haliburton. The organizers have added a number of seminars of interest to home and cottage owners and builders.

This is the eighteenth year for the show, which is sponsored by the Haliburton Curling Club. Wayne Hussey is co-ordinating the show for the club.

The seminars are planned for Saturday afternoon in the upper lounge of the curling club. The first, which is scheduled for 2 p.m., will be on the topic of water systems. A second seminar, planned for 4 p.m. will examine heating options.

Over 100 exhibitors will be taking part in the show with displays on the ice surface of the Haliburton Curling Club, the adjacent Dysart Arena and outdoors on the parking lot. Among the displays will be new products and services of interest to home and cottage owners. "People who are looking for ideas to make their home and cottage life more enjoyable will likely find something of interest here," Hussey said last week.

"There are many exhibitors featuring decorating, clothing, crafts and novelty items," Hussey added. "This show is a great opportunity to find one-of-a-kind items. Craftspeople and artisans from across the province will be on hand."

In addition to the show displays, visitors will be able to enjoy refreshments provided by the Haliburton Figure Skating Club from the concession booth in the arena. A licensed area is available in the Curling Club lounge and members of the senior club will be hosting an outdoor barbecue and beer tent in front of the curling club building.

The show is on for three days and opens Friday (May 31) at 4 p.m., running until 9 p.m. Saturday (June 1) hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. while Sunday (June 2) it is open 12 noon to 4 p.m.

MIXED LOB BALL

The Minden Mixed Lob Ball League is underway with six games every Wednesday evening at the upper and lower diamonds. Action starts at 6:30 p.m.

Midget Royals open with 19-3 victory over Haliburton

Minden's midget Royals hardball team scored a convincing 19-3 triumph over the Haliburton Orioles in the season opener on the Victoria Day weekend. The game featured five home runs, four by Minden and one by Haliburton.

Starting pitcher for the Royals, George Godfrey earned the win, allowing three runs on three hits over four innings. Godfrey struck out seven, but did give up a two-run homer to Orioles slugger Brett Wilson in the second inning. Royals reliever Ryan Anderson faced only six batters in the final two frames, striking out a pair to earn the save.

Minden got on the board early in the first inning when Dwight Bryant singled, stole second, then third and was driven home on a single up the middle by Anderson.

Haliburton evened the score at one apiece in the home half of the first, when Ian Clements hit a hard single, scoring Jason Henry from third base.

The Royals scored one run in the second on a Haliburton throwing error that sent Darren Mills home from third.

Wilson's two-run homer in the Haliburton half of the second frame gave the Orioles their only lead of the game.

The Orioles didn't get much of a chance to savour the lead. The next inning saw Godfrey start off a Minden slug-fest with a solo blast well over the left field fence. Ashley Walker then singled and scored on a sacrifice ground ball by Bryant, his second of three RBIs on the day.

The Royals added two more runs in the fourth. One run was on a solo home run by catcher Jamie Henderson and the other on an RBI single by Chris Little that scored Mills from second base.

Steve Ecclestone slammed a two-run homer in the fifth. Bryant scored on an Anderson double and Anderson scored on a single by Henderson.

The Royals batted through the order in the final frame, scoring nine more runs. Henderson hit his second home run of the day, this time a two-run shot.

The Home opener for the Royals is scheduled for Sunday, June 2 at noon against Lindsay. Spectators are encouraged to come out and cheer the boys on. The ball diamond is located behind the Minden Community Centre.

Senior girls' soccer season ends with a win

by Stacey Bunn

The senior girls soccer season ended with a win. Travelling to I.E. Weldon in Lindsay on Wednesday, May 22, the Haliburton team played the last two games of the season.

The girls had a lot of fun, but faced stiff competition. The first game, against LCVI started off with an early goal for the Spartans. Unfortunately for the Haliburton girls, it was a rough battle and the Lindsay team kept them from scoring. The final was 6-0 in favour of the Spartans.

Rebounding from the disappointing loss, the Haliburton girls rallied for a win against the Bethany Hills team in the last game of the season.

Haliburton totally dominated the Bethany team, with the ball never making it past the centre line. The first goal of the game was scored on a corner kick by Stacey Bunn to Jacoba Lillius.

Coming out after the half time break, the girls were pumped and went out fighting. Jenn Dunford scored on a pass from Stephanie Sales to make it 2-0. The girls weren't done yet. Carolyn Ratz passed to Stacey Bunn, who scored the last goal of the game. The final score was 3-0 for Haliburton.

Coach Sharon Dibblee said that Jen Turner came close to scoring against Bethany, but she was tripped from behind on a breakaway. The opposing player was red flagged and a penalty shot was taken. But the attempt was unsuccessful.

"The girls played really hard in every game," Dibblee said. "They were up against much more experienced players."

Everyone improved greatly over the season and showed that with hard work and determination, the team could play soccer. The team had a lot of fun and enjoyed the season.

We would like to thank our coaches Sharon Dibblee and Peter Bertelsen for all their hard work and for putting up with our loud bus trips. Their coaching and time was appreciated. Thank you also to assistant coach Jason Kasepчук for getting all those "field goals."

Good luck to the girls next year.

Installation complete

The new windows in the upstairs of the Minden community centre are now installed. Nymac Northland Construction workers Ken Shaw, Tim Castendyk and Lee Whitelock are seen here putting in the final few panes of glass. The windows will allow hockey and skating fans to view the on-ice action from the upstairs of the facility. The windows are a welcome addition to the facility to some, while others believe the money might have been better spent elsewhere.

Golf events will back Tim Heming fund

An 18 hole golf tournament and a putting tournament will be held this Thursday, May 30 to honour the memory of Tim Heming. Summer camp directors and colleagues of Tim's parents Rob and Laurie Heming will gather at the PineStone Resort and Conference Centre for the golf tournament, while the Beaverbrook Golf Course will be the site of the putting tournament. A barbecue will also be held at Sunny Rock Lodge on the Scott's Dam Road.

All three events are aimed at raising money for the Tim Heming Bursary Fund.

"The intent of the fund is to keep Tim's love and kindness flowing to other special needs children. Money from the fund will be used to support physically challenged children's efforts to succeed on their lives in what ever way it can best help," the press release announcing the events stated. Examples may include providing special equipment, assistance in going to special events, or assistance in helping camps and other programs work with special needs children.

Thirty-five summer camping professionals from Haliburton, Muskoka, and Quebec camps will be attending this golf and barbecue event. Sally Moore, the new owner of Sunny Rock Lodge is the co-ordinator of the event. She will be hosting the barbecue after the golfing events are completed. Sunny Rock Lodge is the former home of the Heming family.

Moore admired the will and determination of Tim Heming.

She said, "Tim, who died in March of this year at age 12, taught us throughout his lifetime how everyone should make the most of every day and that simple acts of kindness offer others great joy. We collect in Tim's memory, as a group of friends, to support the mission of the Tim Heming Bursary Fund. The proceeds from these tournaments will help many families fulfil Tim's mission. We hope that this tournament will become an annual event."

Those wishing to contribute to the Tim Heming Bursary Fund should send their donations to Sunny Rock Lodge, Scott's Dam Road, RR#1, Minden, Ont. K0M 2K0.

Fire fighters struggle to rescue injured camper

Mastantuono.

Because the area is primarily water-access, the pair had to enlist the help of a cottager to take them by boat to the Big Hawk Lake landing to summon medical help.

Stanhope volunteer firefighters, who were already busy with calls for downed hydro wires and several small fires related to the storm, were summoned to the landing just after 1 a.m.

Big Hawk Landing owner "Mac" MacGregor piloted the cottager's 18-foot aluminum boat for the four firefighters who went to the campsite with rescue gear.

It took the crew almost an hour to cover the estimated three miles, in pelting rain and darkness, along Big Hawk Lake and through the swamp that leads to Sherbourne Lake to reach the victim.

Without room for much apparatus, they guided themselves by flashlight. "It took us forever to get there, through that swamp and the logs, pushing ourselves through six inches of water. We were an hour getting there and over forty minutes getting back," said Stanhope Fire Department Captain Dan Stiver, who was in charge of the rescue.

Stiver praised MacGregor for helping the crew reach the campsite, saying that "we owe him a huge thanks for knowing the lakes so well and getting us there." A second, unnamed cottager also assisted the crew by wading into the swampy area to clear the logs out the way for the boat carrying the victim back to the landing where an ambulance waited for three hours for Cook's arrival.

"At first I thought 'oh my god, no one would be way out here to help us', but the firefighters were waiting for us here (at the landing). I was really impressed with them," said Mastantuono of the firefighters.

Members of the rescue team concur that Cook was very lucky. "I don't know how either one of them wasn't killed," said Stiver. "The tree was right between us. It crushed the tent. I don't know how it didn't hit either one of us directly," said Mastantuono.

Cook was transported to Minden Hospital and transferred by ambulance to Sunnybrook Health Science Centre.

On your marks, get set, walk!

by Andrew Milne

The Help A Village Effort (HAVE) Walk for Water will be held June 1 in Haliburton this year.

The event raises money for the drilling of wells in developing countries. Currently, the organization is concentrating on India.

Explains HAVE member Kathy Sweeney, "We work with partners overseas who drill wells in rural villages, where typically people have to walk a mile or more to get water... Without fresh water the rural people have a tremendous problem with waterborne disease. By putting in a well and providing fresh water in these villages, there's just no limit to the benefits."

"This is a rural area," she says referring to Haliburton County, "and we're a small group, and in that sense we feel a connection with the people who we're helping."

Participants collect pledges and walk a 16 km route from Head Lake

Park in Haliburton, around Lake Kashagawigamog back to the park. There's a boat ride across the lake at the halfway mark, at which point participants who don't wish to walk the whole distance can also get a ride back to the park.

"It's a beautiful, scenic route," says Sweeney.

Registration begins at 7:30 a.m., June 1 at Head Lake Park. Participants can get pledge sheets at the Storeroom or the Chamber of Commerce in Minden, or call Sweeney at 286-3556. In Haliburton, forms are available at Video City.

Police investigate break-ins

Officers from the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police are continuing their investigations into a number of thefts which have come to light during the past week.

Boat and trailer gone

A 12 foot Springbok boat, Shoreland'r trailer and a 9.9 horsepower outboard motor were taken from a cottage on Haliburton Lake, off the Harburn Road. The theft was discovered when the owner arrived at the property May 18.

The theft occurred sometime during the previous three weeks. The value of the missing property has been estimated at $2000.

Wheels gone

A driver was left high and dry following a theft which occurred at Harwood Lake in McClintock Township May 18. The owner left his truck parked at a landing when he used a boat to reach his cottage. Upon returning to the landing, he found that all four tires on the truck had been removed.

In addition, the windshield of the vehicle had been smashed and a Stihl chain saw was taken.

The stolen property was valued at $850, with the damage to the truck $125.

Mower gone

A break-in at a cottage in Glamorgan Township netted thieves a 15 hp riding lawn mower. Police report the garage door was forced open to gain access to the property. The value of the stolen item was estimated at $2000.

Resource material available in books and videos

Prenatal information offered now through libraries and stores

by Andrew Milne

The Haliburton, Kawartha Pine Ridge Health Unit has stopped offering prenatal classes. Now, in place of formal classes, the staff at the unit will be directing expectant mothers to a variety of literature on the subject, available through local libraries and book stores.

The unit reviewed a range of prenatal care literature available — books and videos — and developed an 'approved' list of material which it feels meets parents' needs and which contains accurate and up to date information.

The unit then donated material from the approved list to local libraries, and made lists available to local bookstores.

A sticker, marking the material as 'health unit approved', is attached to the literature.

Sharon Thompson, director of public health nursing for the unit, says the reason for the move is a distinct decline in the number of women attending prenatal classes.

The unit has observed steady declines in enrolment rates over the past few years, to the point where it has become uneconomical to offer them. The staff examined how parents were getting information on prenatal care, and whether the information they were getting was accurate and adequate.

What they found, says Thompson, gave them some cause for concern. Though there is a wealth of material out there, she says, some of it is badly out of date, and gives advice more recent research would suggest is ill-advised.

Says Thompson, "Some of the early prenatal material said that if you smoked and you found it very hard to quit, perhaps you should simply cut down during pregnancy, because the stress of quitting would harm your unborn child more. Well nowadays, it's quite clear that if you're pregnant, butt out... Ten years ago, folic acid would never have been mentioned. Nowadays folic acid before pregnancy and in the first few months of pregnancy is clearly linked to a reduction in women giving birth to babies with birth defects."

The material the unit approves has also been selected for readability, and for accuracy with respect to Canadian health care standards.

Thompson says that though the unit isn't quite sure why women aren't attending the classes as much any more, she suspects it has a lot to do with changing lifestyles.

Says Thompson, "You have to remember prenatal classes started back in the 1940s, in the days before OHIP and more than one doctor in the county, and basically you went to a doctor to make sure you were pregnant, and you went back to deliver.

There wasn't Good Housekeeping and Chatelaine on the local corner store magazine shelves, nor were there books and videos on the topic... What has happened now is that women are no longer stay-at-home wives or mothers — they now have careers, they commute to other towns to work... In many cases they don't have the time or interest to attend classes.

"So we looked at the questions we were being asked in prenatal class, and what's important for a woman to know versus what women perhaps would like to know, and we decided it might be easier for them choosing the information they want... When they want to read a book or look at a video early in the pregnancy or late in the pregnancy, they can if the material is available."

The unit, she says, has attempted to make a variety of information available — from videos on the biology of conception and childbirth to practical handbooks on the care of young children. One book even has such elementary tips as how to carry and dress young children — complete with explanatory photographs — for people raised in small families, who have never had the experience before.

The material is available through the county library system, and at the Master's Bookstore and Undercover Books in Haliburton.

Health nurse Connie Woods (left) and director of public health nursing Sharon Thompson, with some of the literature the unit is making available to expectant and new mothers.

Minden Legion, Branch 636 elects new executive Bonjour.

May is here and finally summer is with us--maybe--now we have the bugs to complain about.

It is with sadness that I may be writing my last column for our branch. This is due to the change in our executive resulting from the election this month. I've enjoyed this part of my duties as I know my wonderful jokes have caused a lot of Monday smiles.

The election resulted in a new President, Comrade Maurice Winterflood. Other members of the executive include Comrades: past president H. Lloyd Johnson, first vice president Francine Newton, second vice president Ken Walsh, secretary Sally Bonner, treasurer Cliff Green. Members of the executive include Comrades Fred Cox, Dora Foster, Ethel Baker, Syd Adamson, Don Holden and Gord Martin. We wish them a successful year.

Branch 636 doesn't blow its own horn very much, so, if you don't mind, I'll do a little patting on the back. Last year our Legion contributed to various worthy projects in our area in the amount of almost $40,000, including $10,000 to the Minden Lions Club to help in their effort with the medical clinic.

Recently, Fred Cox and a bunch of great bowlers from our Branch answered the Lions challenge to a bowl-off for charity. Of course, we won and donated the $800 in prize money to the Minden Hospital Building Fund. Thanks Fred et al.

Ladies Auxiliary News

Saturday May 18, the ladies held the biggest books, plants and homemade baked goods sale ever. On behalf of Ladies Auxiliary president Sheila Burke, thanks to all who donated the goodies, talent and help in making this event a success.

On June 29th, the Ladies Auxiliary is offering a special salad luncheon, from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. If you ever want a super lunch, this is it!

On June 9, the Ladies Auxiliary will be hosting a big bucks euchre. Doors open at 11:00 a.m. Euchre starts at 12:30, lunch is available and the bar will be open. For more information contact Bev Johnson 286-3085.

On June 1, we are hosting a Variety Roll from 12 noon until ??.

On July 6 the Legion's giant yard sale will be held with a tentative start time of 9 a.m. (weather permitting). All donations will be gratefully accepted, with the exception of large appliances and pieces of furniture (we don't have the storage space) and please, please--no junk!! The Ladies Auxiliary will also be busy this day, serving a great luncheon and hosting their ever popular penny sale and summer draw.

The prize for the summer draw consists of a $300 gift certificate from Home Hardware; needle point work; $50 dinner voucher for Hart Lodge; $50 dinner voucher for Rudy's Restaurant.

A parting thought: "Enjoy life...this is not a rehearsal."

Thanks-Cub

Thank-You

On behalf of the Monk and Cray Families, I would like to thank the special people who assisted and comforted us in our time of need on April 26, 1996. The ambulance attendants from Minden and Haliburton, the OPP Officers from Minden and Coboconk, the nurses, doctors, and staff at the Minden and St. Michaels Hospitals, the caring and concerned members of this community who provided assistance, comfort, food, gifts of comfort for Alex, the many phone calls, visits and cards expressing sympathy, concern, prayers and relief, the staff and their families who gave up a great deal of their personal time to see us through and provided coverage for the Funeral Home, and last but not least to our immediate family, Donna, Gordon, Cameron and Liz, for the endless love, concern and support. We can never repay you. It is comforting to know that when people need assistance, this community responds without hesitation.

We are forever grateful

Yours truly,

Alex, Kirsten and Barry

Artist finds beauty in rusting hulks and community's cast-offs

by Morris Duff

Ron Leonard loves to paint junk. He specializes in the junk located in a very large yard just east of Norwood on Highway 7.

His paintings of old cars, hunks of steel and tools scattered about the yard are on display at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery for the next three weeks.

Leonard is primarily a landscape painter who has been captivated by old buildings, often with junk scattered about them. Buildings, like the old mill in Kinmount, also attract his attention.

Similarly, the Norwood junkyard captured his artist's eye when he saw it five years ago. "This is really wild," he said to himself. A great mound of tires loomed on one side of the highway. But it was the things scattered around an old refrigerator on the other side of the road, that he wanted to paint. The owner agreed to allow him access to the property, but said he would have to escort Leonard. The yard was guarded by six dogs on chains who lurked in pits they had dug out under the wrecked cars. A stranger wandering through the yard, who was unfamiliar with the six dogs could be in for a rude awakening.

Leonard's work, which is featured for the next three weeks at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery in a show entitled Through My Eyes, is all about that junk.

That does not mean his paintings are ugly. Obviously Leonard finds beauty in the junk and portrays it. A few of his paintings are abstracts--colours and shapes that cannot be identified. Others are realistic, landscapes of a junkyard. Some are still life renderings: tools, bottles and pieces of metal scattered about as if they were pieces of fruit.

On his first visit to the junkyard that Leonard calls "one of the major tourist attractions of the area," he did a drawing which he gave to the owners. Since then he has made approximately 20 visits and has no intention of stopping. "I'm not quite sure why I'm attracted. But it's a break from landscapes as such," Leonard said.

He paints mostly landscapes plus a few portraits. "I do a lot of strange things," he said.

Leonard is not a stranger in Haliburton County. He has been a popular teacher at the School for Fine Arts for the past five years. He is noted for being particularly lively. "Teaching is something I love to do for very short periods of time," Leonard said. "But it would drive me crazy if I tried to do it for too long." He limits himself to one week in a semester.

A former Toronto businessman, the 73 year old artist has been supporting himself since 1970 through a combination of his painting and being a professional magician. "I've been involved in magic all my life," he said. Mostly, he performs at conventions and banquets and is a highly skilled entertainer. In the army during World War II, Leonard's magic skills resulted in him being assigned to an entertainment unit where he was the regimental sergeant major. He got close enough to the front to hear artillery shells from both sides whistling overhead and to see piles of corpses. In the unit, he met his wife, Christina, a dancer. This year marks their 50th anniversary.

At the junkyard, Leonard can usually complete a painting in two to five hours and likes to produce it on the spot. But in winter, a sudden drop in the temperature will freeze his paints and force him to finish the work at home the next day. "All the stuff I do is fun," Leonard said explaining his philosophy of painting and life. If one doesn't enjoy what he is doing, it will not be good.

Victoria-Haliburton MPP Chris Hodgson met with Tiia Billings recently at Queen's Park, when she participated as the Haliburton County representative at an exposition of information centres from across the province. The purpose of the gathering was to demonstrate to the MPPs the value of the service provided by the centres. Through a provincial association, the centres now have access to data that they describe as, "the most comprehensive and powerful resource tool available today."

TSW report

A late, wet spring resulted in lakes in Haliburton County reaching 100% of capacity by May 6. As flows were diminishing, a very wet, long weekend boosted lake levels again. A high start to these levels should help maintain high levels through the summer.

The Kawarthas rose enough to result in the closure of some of the locks on the Trent system south of Fenelon Falls. Some of the locks were predicted to open this past weekend with the others expected to be in operation later this week.

This Trent-Severn Waterway bulletin was issued May 21.

Health Corner

(More healthy back tips:)

• Lifting: bend your knees; squat and lift with your thigh muscles- not your back. Maintain back lordosis (hollow in low back). Move slowly and carefully. Try to avoid lifting loads in front of you above the waist line. Avoid bending over to lift heavy objects from car trunks as this places a strain on low back muscles -

• Sitting: sit in a firm back chair that offers support to the lumbar area of the spine (low back). Often a small roll placed between the chair and your lower back helps to maintain the hollow (lordosis) of the low back. Try to adjust posture and chairs if sitting at work for a long time. Take exercise breaks from desk work by getting up, moving around and performing a few back exercises in the standing position.

CARDS OF THANKS

Thank you for the phone calls, cards and goodies. Thanks to my son John, his wife Phil for picking me up and taking me to Ross Memorial, and picking me up again and bringing me home and staying a few days. These are things you can't buy. Thank you, Jack Chilton

The Haliburton County Mental Health Support Group would like to kindly thank all who participated in the Educational Conference on Serious Mental Illness in Haliburton County on Thursday May 16, 1996. Special thanks to our guest speaker, Gloria Weight of Norland, Bess Cox and June Partridge, also Jack Brezina for his great job as Master of Ceremonies, Pine-Stone Inn went out of its way to accommodate our group, to the extent of waiving the rental of the room for our evening. Many thanks to them. Also to Ken and Marg Fielding for the four coffee mugs donated from Subway as door prizes. The evening was a success due to one individual who resides in Haliburton County but wishes to remain anonymous. Due to the donation of funds sufficient to pay for 51 dinners, photo copying, ads, etc. this evening was more successful than any of us had dared to hope. Thanks also to Dr. Bennett Wu, we couldn't have done it without your support and endorsement.
